GENESEE COUNTY LEGISLATURE
PRESENTS PROCLAMATION TO LAPP INSULATORS

LeRoy, NY (November 14, 2007) – The Genesee County Legislature has issued a Proclamation recognizing Lapp Insulators for its commitment to the county’s economic prosperity. Legislature Vice Chairman Hollis Upson and LeRoy Legislator Jay Grasso presented the Proclamation to Lapp President John Hurshman during ceremonies this morning at Lapp’s headquarters in LeRoy.

The Proclamation recognized Lapp’s long history of innovation and leadership in the worldwide electrical power industry; the company’s strong reputation for high-quality products and customer service; its significant investment in capital improvements over the last two years, and its commitment to the 230 employees at the LeRoy headquarters and manufacturing facility.

In accepting the Proclamation, Hurshman said, “We are very honored by this recognition. Lapp Insulators has been part of LeRoy and Genesee County since the company was founded in 1916, and we’re very proud of our Upstate New York roots. We plan to continue offering exceptional employment opportunities and helping to make Genesee County a great place to live and work.”

The presentation ceremonies included a tour of the LeRoy plant, which manufactures high-quality porcelain insulators that are used around the world.

Lapp Insulators, LLC, headquartered in LeRoy, New York, is a leading supplier of high voltage insulators for the global electric utility industry with manufacturing facilities in LeRoy, Sandersville, GA, Wunsiedel, Germany and the People’s Republic of China. Recently named one of Rochester’s Top 100 fastest growing companies, Lapp’s core businesses include ceramic and composite insulators for applications ranging from 15 kV to 765 kV.
